Homework Assignment #1:
An Exercise on Using Git

Due Date

10PM Tuesday, September 23, 2014.

Note

The purpose of this little exercise is for you to get familiar with the distributed version control system Git. An individual repository, initially containing a file `hw1.txt`, on the Git server will be created for you. You will receive an email regarding this repository from the TA. Email us if there is a problem.

Task Description

Do the following:

1. Check out from your individual directory the file `hw1.txt`, update it (see instructions in the file), and check it in back to the same repository.

2. Create a new file `hw1a.txt`, write up one paragraph in the file describing the main difficulty/bottleneck (if any) in learning Git, and check it in to your individual repository on the server.
